

Dave Hollister, Love Hate Relationship

Your pushin buttons, trying to what I'm gonna do Fussin and cussin, never put my hands on you so I'm gonna leave, cause right that just seems best I'm a grab a few things now and, and I be back for the rest I remember good times, but the bad ones don't slip by, we just been through to much, and it makes its hard on us when I I love you so much but I hate you right now, I love you most times but I hate you some how, I love you deep down but I hate you come This love hate relationship is tearing up our house
Your calling friends, tellin them how wrong how I am But its pretty much over, So I really don't give a damn I've done my share, of things to make you cry
Don't forget about all that paper, and maybe wonder one day why
I remember good times, but the bad ones don't slip by, we just been through to
much, and it makes its hard on us when I
I love you so much but I hate you right now, I love you most times but I hate
you some how, I love you deep down but I hate you come This love hate
relationship is tearing up our house
I love you so much but I hate you right now, I love you most times but I hate
you some how, I love you deep down but I hate you come This love hate
relationship is tearing up our house
One wise man said its over when the fat lady sings, she only second selection but I'm to blind to see I'm trying to make it work cause its been to many years, about love and laughs and about pain and tears.
I'm trying, I'm trying, I'm trying, I'm trying I'm so confuse cause I really want you to stay, but if you do we'll be right back here at the same ole place.
I love you so much but I hate you right now, I love you most times but I hate
you some how, I love you deep down but I hate you come This love hate
relationship is tearing up our house
I love you so much but I hate you right now, I love you most times but I hate
