

David Ball, For You

Well I was going down the road when she caught my eye
That little red Corvette with a for sale sign
Laid my money down and walked out the door
Wondering what a pickup man wants a convertible for
For you blue eyes five foot two
For you I do the crazy things I know I really shouldn't oughta do
I've either lost touch with reality or I've found a dream come true
I'd climb the Himalayas swim a river full of gators for you
[guitar - steel - piano]
I got a fishing rod and a set of golf clubs just sittin' in a corner collecting dust
I'm a certified lunatic some might say
It wouldn't mean a thing to me to give them all away
For you blue eyes five foot two...
I'd do the crazy things I know I really shouldn't ought to do
I'd climb the Himalayas swim a river full of gators for you mhm for you
