David Byrne, Everybody's Coming To My House

i wish i was a camera I wish I was a postcard I welcome you to my house you didn't have to go far a house and a garden there are, there's plants and trees think a, a closer inspection if you get, gret down on your knees now everybody's coming to my house and I'm never gonna be alone and everybody's coming to my house and I'm never gonna be alone

I'm pointing and describing and I can be your guide the scheme is just a road map the view is very nice imagine looking at ta picture imagine driving in a car imagine rolling down the window imagine opening the door everybody's coming to my house and everybody's coming to my house and I'm never gonna be alone And I'm never gonna go back home we're only tourists in this life only turists but the view is nice and we never gonna go back home No we're never gonna go back home

All right

we're only tourists in this life only tourists but the view is nice and we never gonna go back home and they're never gonna be alone And everybody's coming to my house and they're never gonna be alone
