

David Cook, Declaration

I'll take you just the way you are imperfect words inside the perfect song I feel you closer than you are but I've been waiting far too long too long

It's my declaration
to anyone who's listening you're my inspiration
as I stand alone against the world
cause you love,
and you bleed
and you stole my soul and set me free

It's my declaration
do you care what I believe?
(cause I'm still breathing) that I wear your heart upon my sleeve Sometimes I think you never knew the only truth I see is you
it's you

It's my declaration
to anyone who's listening
you're my inspiration
as I stand alone against the world
cause you love,
and you bleed
and you stole my soul and set me free

It's my declaration
and are there any words to say that would ever mean enough?
When light runs from the day will the darkness be too much?
Will I ever be enough?

It's my declaration
to anyone who's listening
you're my inspiration
as I stand alone against the world
cause you love,
and you bleed
and you stole my soul and set me free

It's my declaration
so tell me can you hear these words tonight
it's my declaration.