

David Fonseca, So You Want To Save The World

So this is how it feels to be young
Let's turn off the light, let's blackout the sun
We can't be bought and can't be sold
We figure out ways of deranging the world

From dust to gold

So tonight
We'll cut away these puppet strings
We'll speed through roads that guide our dreams
So tonight
We'll climb the towers and ring the bells
We'll make the myths, we'll break the spells

So, if you want to save the world
Just come with me. I know the way to it, girl
There's no one left down here to fight
We'll preach a different wrong from right

From grey to white

So tonight
We'll cut away these puppet strings
We'll speed through roads that guide our dreams
So tonight
We'll climb the towers and ring the bells
We'll make the myths, we'll break the spells

So don't you give in
Please don't let them win
There's so much to try
We'll save the world tonight

So, if you want to save the world
Just come with me. I know the way the way to it, girl
Just pack your anger and your sorrows
Don't you wait for tomorrow

To save me girl
