

David Foster, Love At Second Sight

If we learn to pace ourselves it won't seem so dramatic, it won't be so unclear 'cause if we learn to pace ourselves the ghost up in the attic might just disappear you may not agree that it could happen here

And in the morning
I think we're gonna laugh somehow at what we are afraid of now
'cause in the morning
we'll know better than tonight if it's gonna end up love (at second sight)

And if we learn to trust our hearts and disregard the voices leading us away and we can make a better start we have all the choices, we have all the say you might not agree, but, you can't walk away

And in the morning
I think we're gonna laugh somehow
at what we are afraid of now
'cause in the morning
we'll know better than tonight
if it's gonna end up love (at second sight)