

David Houston, That's Why I Cry

Why are there tears in my eyes all the time
I can't help it and I'm blue mem'ries won't pull me through that's why I cry

The world you're in has taken you from me
I know I'll never hold you way I used to do when I feel another's lips I think of you
Until the day I die I'll go on loving you
And that's just why there's tears...
And that's just why there's tears...
That's why I cry
