

David Meece, There Once Lived A Man

There once lived a man so unique so divine
He promised new life,
Healed the sick,
Ended pain

Then 'cause He loved,
'Cause He showed His love,
People hated Him
They hated Him
They hated this thing called love

He grew tall and strong,
Lived a life, did nothing wrong
And He loved everything,
Every brook
Every stream

Then 'cause He loved us so much,
He died
He died
He died for this thing called love.
