

Dawid Podsiadło, Four Sticks

In your sleep you seem worried
You said lots of different stories
I will keep, I'll keep them safe You'll be angry when you wake up Cause I've been recording you all morning
I will laugh it's my little paradise
When I cried on our second date Felt embarrassed, scared you would regret But you smiled and said it's ok
I'm not worried about the future
I know exactly what kind of furniture
We will have in our own kitchen
Well I'm not leaving till you see
That I have changed the way we need
Don't make me fell down on my knees
You have to realize I'm here
With my father and the rest
We will deal when the time comes I'm strong cause I know you are always close My mom, my brother, my love
The triangle that stays unmoored Though earthquakes will strike I'm sure
Well I'm not leaving till you see
That I have changed the way we need
Don't make me fell down on my knees
You have to realize I'm here

you've never been so kind yeah it's been ages we seem to focus on the different pages remember when we met we both seemed worried we wondered if we'd share the trajectory to be honest I've never been so kind too I'd go around the block and kiss some random dudes I never thought you'd actually fucking measure the number of guys that I have pleased since the day you infiltrate my dreams I never win so I'm not gonna win it I think we were forsoken a long time ago the only thing worth fighting for is really gone when everyone is sleeping I will go somewhere to see if anyone would notice I was there but really I don't care about to be fair I guess I'm just a pretty messed up teenager cause I just wanted to be left alone and I never wanted to be loved and trusted too scared of hurting others all around me but now I'm left alone, and that's ok.
