

De Capulet, Love At A High Speed

Well I've been thinking about the phone lines and the street signs and they remind me every couple And I'm hating feeling farther from you and I know that your heart feels that way too. I'm thinking I c

And I've got a little cash. I think that I could probably get back, but I dont know if I'm quite ready to l

So here's to you, here's to you and all the things you never thought we could be.
Here's to the monologues I sold to your ears for the price of gettin' into your jeans.
You've worn out my body but my body cant sleep and the weight that I'm losing is'nt a flattering thing but I'm constantly craving your nicotine
cause youre all about love at a high speed.
you're all about love at a high speed and thats not me

Well I've been thinking about your sweet smile on the I-5 and it reminds me every couple of miles t
You say "I'm hating feeling farther from you." Well the phone lines work both ways the f I'm thinking I could take the train home, cause there's traffic on the 202.

And I've got a little cash. I think that I could probably get back, but I dont know if I'm quite ready to l

So here's to you, here's to you and all the things you never thought we could be.
Here's to the monologues I sold to your ears for the price of gettin' into your jeans.
You've worn out my body but my body cant sleep
and the weight that I'm losing is'nt a flattering thing
but I'm constantly craving your nicotine
cause youre all about love at a high speed.
you're all about love at a high speed and thats not me