De/Vision, I Regret

Sometimes I'm simple minded Then I can't read your look All my thoughts are binded I'm like an opened book In which you read the story Of a bleeding soul I am so sorry Each time I lose control

I should suppress my rage I need you beside me Don't you leave the stage I need you to guide me I know you'll be my saviour If I repeat my fault You put me on my best behaviour You hear my call

Please hold out I regret All the nasty words I said I can feel you getting colder Please don't doubt That I regret All the days I left you sad Can't you see me getting older

I know I hurt your feelings But you had the strength To start my healing You went all lengths The days of crying Have reached the end ' cause now I'm trying to understand

Please hold out...
