De/Vision, The Day's Not Done (Telekommander

No one left to fight for No one here to hit me in the face No one left to fight for Don't let it go away No one left to cry for Who is gonna kick you when I'm gone No one left to cry for Don't make it go away

I know that the day will come I know we will be as one I can see the day is not yet done I'm holding on I know that the day will come I know we will be as one I feel that a new life has begun I'm holding on

No one left to die for No one there to catch you while I fall No one left to die for Don't make me... just go away