

Deacon Blue, Love You Like A Son

Early in the evening there's a sun in the sky everybody's happy but there's a tear in your eye the times I never wondered the times I never knew I'd live them all again if I could live them all for you

And when the walls are broken and when they're on your back when its scapegoats that they're after and they know you'll attack just remember, boy in the silence of the night something I never told you

I love you like a son

Later in the evening in the light of the moon everyones found lovers ,its empty in the room when polite conversation goes screaming out the door and understanding people leave you lying on the floor

They ask me why
they ask me why
analyse it, analyse it
they ask me why
they ask me why
but don't tell just don't say
