Dead Milkmen, I Hear Your Name

Across the sea across the sea That's where your hand was takin' me Goin' to places that I've never been

I hear your name Someone's calling your name I better go now Someone's calling your name

I thought I saw you in a department store You turned the corner and it wasn't you I thought I saw you walkin' on the sidewalk I blew my horn but you were someone else

I hear your name Someone's calling your name I better go now Someone's calling your name

Open a window (x2) Walk through the windows Walkin' through windows...
