

Dead Moon, Revenge

Bad blood stirring in the boiling pot finger on the trigger of a gun an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth It's an old web being spun born from the seeds of anger and hatred do it to them like they do it's only revenge and the worst of it all it all comes back to you

Envy treads at the breaking edge wheredogs begin to wail sorrow imprisoned the widows eyes like arrows too, they fell trying to balance the scales of injustice
do it to them like they do
it's only revenge and the worst of it all
it all comes back to you

the hounds pursue the weary step as silver etched the sent chasing down the passions of mans convictions escaping time he'd never spent half starved and running he'll pay for his blindness racing the bullets of hate thirteen steps an a dead mans walk it's always been this way
it all comes back to you