

Deadsy, Le Cirque En Rose

Once far away
Through a dimension
Adjacent to day
Trancending azure surrounds

One more try to hypnotise
A true life suspension
But to always remain
In league with Poseidon

Another chance to undermine
As the dead rose decides to come alive
We'll see how low birds can fly
Still its yellow derriere the crystal eye

Come sign away
You can leave your worries behind
But like the winds we'll pass you by
Fill your days with blandness

But now has come the time
To defame and yield the blind
The how determines
The new regime and who's the Constantine

(Le cirque en rose)

So crowned we stroll through life
Never quit, rain or shine
Never question what's inside
Till the last beat, end of time

So go fly away to that special place