

Deadsy, The Last Story Ever

Hold me with you for tonight
Something builds which is not right
It's getting closer to the time
Where all shall be told in one last rhyme

This is the last story ever
The last story ever, ever again

The golden princess, oh so bright
She turns and she says
("better check what you're running on
'Cause the lights there are gonna control you now")
Her hands are rinsed of all men's crimes
How blind

But this is the last story ever
This is the last chance we'll ever have together
It takes from the past to forever
So this is the last story ever, ever again

("better check what you're running on
'Cause the lights there are gonna control you now")
Ever again
("better check what you're running on
'Cause the lights there are gonna control you now")
Ever again
("better check what you're running on
'Cause the lights there are gonna control you now")

Hold me with you for tonight
Something builds which is not right
It's getting closer to the time

But this is the last story ever
This is the last chance we'll ever have together
It takes from the past to forever
So this is the last story ever, ever again

The last story ever, ever again
("better check what you're running on
'Cause the lights there are gonna control you now")
Ever again
("better check what you're running on
'Cause the lights there are gonna control you now")