

Dealership, Domesticated

in our bi-level pad your mom married dad happiness was a fad best we ever had...

say donna
i think that your brother is a geek and a half i think that your brother has a Horshach laugh 'cause your brother ain't nobody, I can tell he's high as your brother i should know, girl, and here's the reason why he opens his mouth trips over his tongue

the boy keeps to himself by locking his room
given the truth
he's losing his mind
he's not the geek you'd thought you would find

say donna
i could spy on other guys who would think you're great if you haven't got the time i should think you'd wait while you're smiling outside i can tell you're psyched baby shower down the hall take a right turn at my bike i think you're gonna like it here i think you will

in and out round and round side by side they go while up and down goes the sound of our fantasies below t-shirt's stuck in the house and he churns it up in the house

in and out round and round side by side they go while up and down goes the sound of our families below i'm telling the truth

he's losing his mind
he's one of your kind