

Dean Strickland, Where I Stand

After speaking to her last night
Me myself and I had a fight
Still a little confused I am
But now I know where I stand

In a newfound relationship she and I share
No mutual friendship more like a onesided love affair
Rejection I'm taking it hard
True confessions I went way too far

After speaking to her last night
Me myself and I had a fight
Still a little confused I am
But now I know where I stand

Why do I stay in love with her

Never to receive her love in return

She told me straight up move on with my life
Words that cut like the edge of a switchblade knife
Stabbing me deep in my heart
From her I don't ever want to part

After speaking to her last night
Me myself and I had a fight
Still a little confused I am
But now I know where I stand

After speaking to her last night
Me myself and I had a fight
Still a little confused I am
But now I know where I stand
