

Deas Vail, Light As Air

You're sinking in this and you don't know
Where to go as the darkness unfolds.
Nobody see its, when you're alone
And all you know is that you want to start again.
We're taking action, do you believe in what you need?
That we will find this story's end.

If you are burdened, I am as light as air.
Take flight. I can carry you there.
Broken and blinded, there is a plan, so take my hand.
You'll understand this in the end.

You can't believe in everything you're told.
Sometimes it's nobody that wins,
But you fall down for your heart
And fight it out until the bitter end.

The time is over for silent years of stored up fears
That are holding you down.
A taken lover that you'll begin to find again
It's a hold inside your heart

You're coming around now.
You want to get older,
But don't forget how to stay alive. (x2)

You're coming around now.
