

Death Angel, No

[music by cavestany, lyrics by osegueda] raise your hands to the sky on your knees and abide don't stare into the sun the new saviours have come and you choose your wine

like you chose your friends and you base your life
on each passing trend

and i say
no to false claims
no to their aims
no to all of their rules

we've come to save your soul we must regain control it's the end of their reign our day has come again

and you choose your wine
like you chose your friends
and you base your life
on each passing trend

and i say
no to false claims
no to their aims
no to all of their rules

You've been blown off course we've come to take you north in the eye of the storm history's been reborn

and you choose your wine
like you chose your friends
and you base your life
on each passing trend

and i say
no to false claims
no to their aims
no to all of their rules

we've been sent back
surprise attack
we've been sent back
surprise attack
we've been sent back
surprise attack
we've been sent back
surprise attack