Death Cab For Cutie, Black Sun

There is whiskey in the water And there is death upon the vine There is fear in the eyes of your father And there is "yours" and there is "mine"

There is a desert veiled in pavement And there's a city of seven hills And all our debris flows to the ocean To meet again, I hope it will

How could something so fair be so cruel When this black sun revolved around you

There is an answer in a question And there is hope within despair And there is beauty in a failure And there are depths beyond compare

There is a role of a lifetime And there's a song yet to be sung And there's a Dumpster in the driveway Of all the plans that came undone

How could something so fair be so cruel When this black sun revolved around you /2x

There is whiskey in the water And there is death upon the vine And there is grace within forgiveness But it's so hard for me to find

How could something so fair be so cruel When this black sun revolved around you /2x
