

Debbie Gibson, With All My Heart

Sometimes I am in the wrong I go where I do not belong believe me I know my faults I force my will I walk on coals
I prey on unsuspecting souls we all do somersaults

Then we land on solid ground and turn it all around the first chance we get to make a brand new start but everything I do I do with all my heart.

Sometimes I will not look down I trip and fall and scrape the ground cause I thought I knew all But every twist and every turn and every time I live and learn it comes down to that fall. cause the pain was mine all mine and nothing human or divine could make me put that horse before that cart backwards upside down, but with all my heart.

there is one you
there is one me one go round one short life
use it wisely sink or fly but fall grasping for stars cause the thing about our hearts they're uniquely ours.

once upon a time when i could stop the world right on a dime
I never analyzed
I fell straight into passions crowds I struggled heaven only knows but opened weren't my eyes to all I could not see I believed it all could be so I went there not picking it apart I saw it whole and with my soul and yes with all my heart.

somethings in life won't matter like if you climb the ladder or not but sit back relax if you've tried with all your heart.
