Debelah Morgan, Airight

I used to feel so sad Sad and lonely too Cause I never has someone Who loves me like you do I don't worry anymore With Him by my side Ever since the day we met His love has changed my life Open up and let Him He will be your one true friend He will make everything alright Chorus Everything will be alright Everything will be alright With Christ in your life He will make everything alright Everything will be alright Everything will be alright With Christ in your life He will make everything alright Verse 2 He will love you too If you let Him in (if you let Him in) It doesn't matter who you are He don't care where you been He just wants to be your friend His touch will ease your pain Once you let him in You will never be the same Open up and let Him He will be your one true friend He will make everything alright (Chorus) Bridge Alright, Everything will be alright (Chorus)