Debeli Precjednik, Death Or Glory

You try to take us by surprise But you're falling down We all know you got wrong reasons Your act is not to like anyone You're just covering your frustration

Little corner in the media you got And so you think that you're a preacher now You don't listen, because you're hearing Too loud yourself, your only friend

Back in the days it used to be so "death or glory!" so strong with dignity and heart but now you bring your new philosophy and it's so different story who gave you the right to right the wrong i know you're not so strong why the fuck you come around if you don't like it just to step on other people's toes? If you don't like it don't listen to it I's just as simple as that, you hypocrite

Back in the days it used to be so "death or glory!" so strong with dignity and heart but now you bring your new philosophy and it's so different story who gave you the right to right the wrong i know you're not so strong

i know it's not too late...
