

Debeli Precjednik, Thank You

Hold my hand. Lend me your shoulder to dry my tears before I'm through with this life...before I'm over.
Because without you...I am through.
Every night I cry myself to sleep,
I make two beds, but they stay empty...
only leaving the smell of your hair.
And little by little it fades out just like me...
only leaving the memory of you.
Thank You. All I'm saying is thank you.
The dedication...the care...the detail...Thank you.
For every breath of yours that I've filled my lungs with
I'm grateful in so many ways now.
And little by little it fades out just like me...
only leaving the memory of you.
Thank You. All I'm saying is thank you.
The blood...the pain...all in vain...
Thank you.
All the whispers in my ears are like an angel breathing.
I reject it all and get back to the start.
Refuse to be what I'm not
and embrace the person you are.
I reject it all and get back to the start.
Refuse to be what I'm not
and embrace what you are so I can close my eyes and open my heart.