

Deciding Tonight, The Science Of Dowsing

I'll hide my face in scenery
Set traps for you with imagery
And I'll leave you
Missing the meaning

Every word has been a test to see whose listening
Every line has been a message sent for you

Let's play a game where we pretend
That everything is okay
Then after we'll pretend that I am:
Let's play a game that crazy game
Where everything is okay
Then after we'll pretend that I am
Who you want me to be

I've grown a taste for apathy
A last attempt at sanity
So forgive me
If it seems like I don't care

All these night we wasted time dancing around the truth
Well I'm sorry I don't feel like dancing anymore

Let's play a game where we pretend
That everything is okay
Then after we'll pretend that I am:
Let's play a game that crazy game
Where everything is okay
Then after we'll pretend that I am
Who you want me to be

I feel I've fallen short again
I tried to script an ending
To a fight that never ends

Every word so far's been a test to see who's listening
Every line has been a message sent for you

Let's play a game where we pretend
That everything is okay
Then after we'll pretend that I am:
Let's play a game that crazy game
Where everything is okay
Then after we'll pretend that I am
Who you want me to be
