

Deine Lakaien, Bells Of Another Land

tender night night of spring
waving veils of blue
at the window
nada listens
quiet silence of night caught you are where is no light
youth is slipping away
let me be your unknown knight
to save because i know these shimmering eyes can't find no sleep youth is calling for more under the window someone disappeared
and sings his lullaby
caught you are where is no light
youth is slipping away
let me be your unknown knight
to save because i know
get up give me your body
the beauty of a face
these lips so red, hair like a veil eyes as green as jade
you called the knight down deep inside
you know his gift of air your velvet skin
drunk of your breath he chokes you in his arms
caught you are where is no light
youth is slipping away
let me be your unknown knight
to save because i know
get up give me your body
the beauty of a face
these lips so red, hair like a veil
eyes as green as jade
your breath as warm as summer sun you caught me in a spell