Del Amitri, Last Cheap Shot At The Dream

I can't look into the future, but I can't cheat the past I will wipe away my memory, I will find freedom at last I will walk away from everything that I used to want so bad I can't look into the future, but the future is the only thing I have The only thing I have

I am standing on the pavement, I am staring at a sign A cheaper flight to paradise I am told I'll never find

There are cameras on the rooftops, there are crazies on the green

I will jump a plane to any place far enough away to get me out of who I've been

Get me out of who I've been

I have shaken, never bitten, every hand that ever hit me Time has taken what it wanted, now I'm gonna get my victory

With my last cheap shot at the dream

I can't look into the future, but I can't cheat the past I will wipe away my memory, I will find freedom at last I can't look into the future, but I know I don't wanna see

Another day in Hell with all the mediocrities

I will walk away from everything that the world wants me to do I can't look into the future, but the future's where I'm walking to I'm walking to
