

Del Reeves, I'm Not Through Loving You

I need you so I can't let go I'm not through loving you

If only I had realized we had so little time
I might have seen the loneliness that pushed me from your mind
So many things I meant to say so much I meant to do
I need you so I can't let go I'm not through loving you

You always seemed to cling to me when we were in a crowd
And when somebody spoke my name you always looked so proud
But now that look of love is gone and there's nothing I can do
I need you so I can't let go I'm not through loving you

There's so much left inside me that still belongs to you
I need you so I can't let go I'm not through loving you
I need you so I can't let go I'm not through loving you
