

Del Reeves, So Much Got Lost

Sometimes I get to thinking of another time
When we hide so little but you were mine
But now so much is changed and all the price the years have caused Somewhere between then and now so much got lost

So much got lost when you try to gain
And what has gone come back again
We burned our bridges as we crossed
And on the way to the other side so much got lost
(steel)
We want the world lost each other
And what good is one without the other
We threw love to the wind and just let it be tossed
And in the calm after the storm so much got lost

So much got lost...
