

Del Reeves, Teardrops Will Kiss The Morning Dew

When time was young we walked the road together
When love was sweet I meant the world to you
Now comes the sun we'll say goodbye forever
And teardrops will kiss the morning dew

Take me and make me your lover one more time
Close in your arms as before
Till over your shoulder the early morning shines
Then I'll leave you and I breathe you no more

When time was young we walked the road together...

Daisies need sunshine and roses need rain
So it was all meant to be
The wild bird needs wings free to take to the wind
And so it must be with you and me

When time was young we walked the road together...
When time was young we walked the road together...
And teardrops will kiss the morning dew
