

Demis Roussos, Seasons Of Love

Seasons of love are gone forever
Echoes of words you still remember
Silence is like a friend
Cause now there is nobody else

Seasons of love are gone forever
After the storm you still remember
Part of the dream that died
but all the memories remain

Ooooooooh, there is nothing there but the silence cold and lonely silence everything reminds me of you

Ooooooooh, I close my eyes and see you
In every dream I see you I could almost reach out for you

Seasons of love are gone forever
Echoes of words you still remember
Silence is like a friend
Cause now there is nobody else

Seasons of love are gone forever
After the storm you still remember
Part of the dream that died
but all the memories remain

Ooooooooh, here do I go from here now

And I'll just never know how and why I lost the seasons of love (interlude)

Seasons of love are gone forever
Echoes of words you still remember
Silence is like a friend
Cause now there is nobody else

Seasons of love are gone forever
After the storm you still remember
Part of the dream that died
but all the memories remain

oooooooh,
where do I go from here now
And I'll just never know how and why I lost the seasons of love

Seasons of love are gone forever
After the storm you still remember
Part of the dream that died
But all the memories remain

Seasons of love are gone forever
Echoes of words you still remember
Silence is like a friend
Cause now there is nobody else