Demis Roussos, Winter Rains

In the early morning rise, you bring tears into my eyes, but I know that we'll be true forever, oh, together.

Summer shines and winter rains, falling leaves from willow trees, there's one thing I only know, I love you, oh, I love you more, I need you, oh, I want you more, I love you.

Summer shines and winter rains, falling leaves from willow trees, there's one thing I only know, I love you.

Drink with me my summerwine, you and I will live to die but as long as we are one forever, oh, I love you more, I need you, oh, I want you more, I love you.

Summer shines and winter rains, falling leaves from willow trees, there's one thing I only know, I love you.

In the early morning rise, you bring tears into my eyes, but I know that we'll be true forever, oh, together.

Let me love you more, let me love you so.
