

Denison Witmer, Over My Head

Taking myself back to the time
We were in your room
You looked straight through the life that I've lead
The things that I've said
Made you tired

You could always find the best in me
You can always sense the times that I'd been Falling apart, the shape of my heart
Shows its marks

It's a lonely life and we both know that
Things are gonna change

You're over my head, over my mind
Walk with my face down and my eyes
Over my head, over my mind
Walk with my face down
Walk with my head down

Going on two weeks since I last saw
The smile that depended on my life
The things that she needs
I just called to see if you're fine

It's a lonely life and we both know that
Are you safe away?

You're over my head, over my mind
Walk with my face down and my eyes
Over my head, over my life
Walk with my face down
Walk with my head down
