Depeche Mode, Only When I Lose Myself (1998)

It's only when I lose myself in someone else That I find myself I find myself

Something beautiful is happening inside for me Something sensual, it's full of fire and mystery I feel hypnotized, I feel paralized I have found heaven

There's a thousand reasons
Why I should not spend my time with you
For every reason not to be here I can think of two
To keep me hanging on
Feeling nothing's wrong
Inside your heaven

It's only when I lose myself in someone else That I find myself I find myself

I can feel the emptiness inside me fade and disappear There's a feeling of content now that you are here I feel satisfied I belong inside Your velvet heaven

Did I need to sell my soul For pleasure like this Did I have to lose control To treasure your kiss Did I need to place my heart In the palm of your hand Before I could even start To understand

It's only when I lose myself in someone else That I find myself I find myself