

Dermot Kennedy, Lost

When everything was broken, The devil hit his second stride But you remember what I told you Someday I'll need your spine to hide behind for fear of moments stolen I don't wanna say goodnight but I'll still see you in the morning still know your heart and still know both your eyes

I could have told you about the long nights how no one loves the birds that don't rise so you can tell the heroes go hide my sense of wonder's just a little tired

if only you could see yourself in my eyes you'd see you shone, you shine and I know you'd never leave me behind but I am lost this time
are we destined to burn
or will we last the night?
if only you could see yourself in my eyes
you'd see you shone, you shine

so we'll run into open keep your hand inside of mine and then when everything is over I hope to think of this as better times the sky got red and swollen I guess I never see the signs there can't be songs for every soldier it can't be solace every time you cry

I could have told you about the long nights
how no one loves the birds that don't rise
so you can tell the heroes go hide
my sense of wonder's just a little tired

if only you could see yourself in my eyes
you'd see you shone, you shine
and I know you'd never leave me behind
but I am lost this time
are we destined to burn
or will we last the night?
if only you could see yourself in my eyes
you'd see you shone, you shine

I was lost 'till I found you now these songs will hold and hide your name all it was, was all about you since that night the moon has never seemed the same

if only you could see yourself in my eyes
you'd see you shone, you shine
and I know you'd never leave me behind
but I am lost this time
are we destined to burn
or will we last the night?
if only you could see yourself in my eyes
you'd see you shone, you shine