

Destiny, Reyes

A knife cuts my life. The symbol of the end. Tears of blood escape from your eyes. Thought your wish so perfect and yet so weak. Every breath contains exhaustion. So fast and so quick you threw away goodbye. This heart bleeds for every tear you cried. For every day of unrequited love. Another day passes by. One more day without you. I give you my life for the last goodbye. A waiting for death. End this new beginning.