

DI-RECT, Revenge

the sun wakes up, but it's still night it was her last time up, it was her fight she is a girl who was born to wild she never learned to be a child but she'll always have that child inside, she didn't know better hate and fear she kept inside for all those years it was the faith witch gave her fear now she knows better see her face wild in trance her thoughts in space shaking hands her dairy wich says:
"days go by i never learned how to cry."
she always felt pain inside she wrote this letter:
"many tears i kept inside for all those years. my fear is gone now and i thin i will feel better."
see her face wild in trance she screams out loud: "i want revenge." her parents faith, sunday school she hates to live by rules she wants friends and wild romance now she has her change to take revenge all those days she tried to say without sense take revenge anyway she wasn't meant to stay she had a change to make her live worth living all her friends gave her a second chance she didn't stand a chance now she's in heaven