

Diamond Rio, Just Another Heart

You treat love like a game
But you dont play by any rules
You keep an ace held up your sleeve
For any unsuspectin' fool
I thought I would be different
So I did not expect
That to you Id be another
Heart in the deck

Just another heart
For you to shuffle around
Just a little part
Of a bigger game thats going down
I dont like this deal
So Ill get out while I still can
I dont want to be just another heart in your hand

Like a riverboat gambler
Someday youll lose your touch
To a smooth operator
Who cheats you out of love
When your diamonds turn to teardrops
When your gold begins to rust
Its then you will know this feeling of running out of trust Im

Just another heart
For you to shuffle around
Just a little part
Of a bigger game thats going down
I dont like this deal
So Ill get out while I still can
I dont want to be just another heart in your hand

I cant take anymore
Of what youre not giving me
I can live with a lot
But I dont want to be

Just another heart
For you to shuffle around
Just a little part
Of a bigger game thats going down
I dont like this deal
So Ill get out while I still can
I dont want to be just another heart in your hand

I dont like this deal
So Ill get out while I still can Cause I dont want to be
Just another heart in your hand

You treat love like a game
But your dont play by any rules
