

Diamond Rio, Start All Over Again

(will jennings/annie roboff)
(track 10 - time 4:52)

The lights of the city
Look good when you're leaving
You don't even count what you lost

The streets and their madness
Make my heart so sad
They will never be worth what they cost

Take me to the mountain
I want to see the other side

Oh give me one golden day
And I won't care where I've been
Oh let this world slip away
And I'll start all over again
I will start all over again

I'm through with the struggle
And tired of the trouble
It's high time I left it behind

I've walked the mean streets

Just counting my heartbeats
It's easy to lose your mind

I'll break the chains that bind me
For my soul is deep and wide

Oh give me one golden day
And I won't care where I've been
Oh let this world slip away
And I'll start all over again
I will start all over again

As sure as the sun keeps rising on me
I'll find a place where I ought to be

Oh give me one golden day
And I won't care where I've been
Oh let this world slip away
And I'll start all over again
I will start all over again
And I won't care where I've been
Oh let this world slip away
And I'll start all over again
I will start all over againover again
