

Diary Of Dreams, Dead Souls Dreaming

And with these words you ask for justice?
And do your deeds make you feel better?
The sounds of voices echoes deep into the touch
Of my fingers, fragile, asking questions

You seemed like yourself..
Until you slaughtered,
Until you raped these feelings,
Until you couldn't tell apart,
What true and false is in your life,
What dream or what reality is in your sleep

And then you see them rising
Born into your sleep
Rising towards your horizon
Feel these
Dead souls dreaming
In your sleep

Last night I heard you speaking
Whisper in your sleep
You were talking about strangers
Longing for your dreams