

Diary Of Dreams, Holier Than Thou Approach

Have you felt the forgiveness
He has spread across the land?
Have you felt the dignity
In each of the people's heads?
But have you also seen the pain
Or did he give you eyes in vain?
Diseases, wars and shattered pride
And a nation dressed in black

I shiver as I read your words
They're all depraved as I can see
Though you've got more children
Or better servants than you can use
You keep us blind, you keep us weak
You don't allow to introspect

I say: You're more depraved than thou appear
Holier than thou approach?

I shiver as I read your words
You don't allow to introspect
Was it you to spread the blood
That once has flown in Garden Eden?
Though your servants still believe the words
That you're supposed to have said

I say: You're holier than thou appear
Holier than thou approach?
