Die Krupps, Scent

My brain is haunted by this scent it takes me back to a past event it's like a drug that I need every day I need to preserve it, have to get it my way

Forever I'll have this desire this scent - keeps me alive and fills my soul Forever engulfed by its fire this scent - consumes my mind and takes control

The feelings I get when memory comes back goves me something in my life I lack it takes me awat to the place I seek and my being reaches its highest peak

I follow the trail it leaves behind boxing it up is on my mind preserving this scent is my aim I satisfy my senses, that scent must sustain.