

Die Monster Die, Pennies

This dark day now is over with and done
And I'm picking up the pieces from the ground
And my hourglass is broken, all my words unspoken
Take the pennies from my eyes and let me run...

While you try to tell yourself you don't want nothing else
Yes, you try to tell yourself you don't want nothing else...
Take them from me, wash them down as they tease
Sweep 'em under the rug at any cost
Don't let them see how lost you can be...

My demons grow darker... every day, in every way
Restrain, explode - explain, reload
Alienation's your middle name, but
That's such a worn out joke 'cause
You can't escape pain

Let your life begin - wake up - you can start again

Anger vibrates inside me, struggles to be set free
Anger vibrates inside me, struggles to be set free...
Take it from me, wash it down as they tease
Sweep it under the rug at any cost
Don't let them see how lost you can be...

Like a top she whirls, but not plasticene
She don't disappear when you close your eyes
Exhaust, delay - remain, betray
One way or another you're gonna fall apart one day and
You are not plasticene

Let your life begin - wake up - you can start again

Recognize... not a stranger you just forgot...
I like you even when you hate yourself
