

Die Toten Hosen, The Return Of Alex

In a world designed by the men in grey who decide how we live and breathe, there's a masterplan for the company man from the cradle to the company grave.

They thought that you'd be happy with your place in the national scheme and your carefully measured freedom to conform to the corporate dream.

But there's a virus in the software here that shows like a cancer trace.
When you thought it was safe to relax, it's back right in your face.

Hey, here comes Alex -
and there's nowhere left for you to go.
Hey, here comes Alex -
yes it's true, your darkest nightmare, horrorshow.

There's something here can't be denied to satisfy their greed, if they say we don't care what you want
'cause we know what you need.

As history will repeat itself and hate on violence feeds, in every man a darker side just waiting to be freed.

Hey, here comes Alex -
and there's nowhere left for you to go.
Hey, here comes Alex -
yes it's true, your darkest nightmare, horrorshow.

So you watch the meters ridin and the silent pressure grows, the hate inside is rising, the one you've always known.

When the time is passed for talking and you've stepped across that line,
I will return - vengeance will be mine.

Hey, here comes Alex -
and there's nowhere left for you to go.
Hey, here comes Alex -
yes it's true, your darkest nightmare, horrorshow.
Hey, here comes Alex -
and there's nowhere left for you to go.