

Die Trying, Never Good Enough

The words you say that are so mean
The way they cut-cut
The way they hurt me
As if I am never good enough for you, for you
Something in they way
The way you walk and the way you talk
I'm sorry that you ? you feel sorry for me
And I'm sorry to say it

Why can't you be there?
Why can't you even care?
Why can't life be fair?
Why am I never good enough?

You set me up to fall down
To hit the ground running
While all the time coming
Was the biggest fall of all
I lost control seemed to have lost my soul
You tried to take away my fantasy
Rock and Roll was the only goal
The thing that meant the most to me
Can't you see that's all I'll ever be

Why can't you be there?
Why can't you even care?
Why can't life be fair?
Why am I never good enough?

Why am I never good enough?
The words you say are just so mean
Choking my self esteem
As if I'm never good enough for you

Why can't you be there?
Why can't you even care?
Why can't life be fair?
Why am I never good enough?
