

Diesel Boy, Adria's Warhol

Yesterday, I called an old friend in L.A.
We laughed for hours about those days
Anyway, he's doing fine I'm glad to say
It's funny, some things never change
My dreams fade, but my memories are saved
Like the lion, they are brave
What have I become?
It's either all or none
I never wanted anything from this world but love
Will I overcome?
Or will it leave me numb?
I never wanted anything from this world but love
Destiny, I think mine's leading me astray
I'm on the tracks, here comes the train
I can't complain
Life's been good to me these days
I guess I'll just fade away
