

Diesel Boy, All The Mayors Of Roadsville

five thousand twenty six miles from somewhere side of the road motel = sixteen hours in the van today more stories than one man could tell = america's as lonely as a widow and I am as tired as a king in four more = days I'll be home again and home is a wonderful thing its twenty to six = and the sun has come up and you are still on my mind in a world full of = hassles and arrogant assholes beauty is so hard to find Cleveland, Ohio = to Allentown, PA the towns they blur into one refineries that light up = the sky northbound highway 101 handjobs in the parking lot minutes = before the show let's share a beer or a smoke from the pipe because its = almost time for us to go
