

Diffuser, The Way That I Feel

There's a crack in the stack when you find that you're on your own
Raising stakes in the race, selling out so you don't get sold
Something for nothing hasn't been left for me
Tear away everything and I'm wearing memories
Take a chance on a chance, try leapfrog with a unicorn
I bet you sleep tight every night wondering
If the one you've become is what you hated
The more I gave, the more you take
Why can't you stay? What should I do?
Now that we're through
One thing is true
The way that I feel
YEA! Have a drink on the fink 'till we kill off the disco fad
Fuzzy dice mixed with ice, give it up for the other man
I'm getting cold shakes from the state that I'm in
Your getting colder, I'm getting older
Stop the landslide
The more I gave, the more you take
Why can't you stay? What should I do? Now that we're through
One thing is true
The way that I feel
I'm pulling hair in despair
Cracker Jacks for the funeral
Pull a shade, so I can break the walls around me
What should I do? Now that we're through
One thing is true
The way that I feel for you
